HIJACK

THE hijack at Lod Airport last night represents a new and dangerous tactic of the terorist groups.

Aware that El Al has strict security arrangements, the ter-corists sought to exploit the more lax procedures of a foreign

It is apparent that Israel cannot control or determine the security arrangements of other air-lines. But it is also apparent that attacks on these lines on their Israeli routes could paralyse air traffic to Israel.
Thus while last night it was clear that primary concern would have to be given to the safety of the passengers and crew of the abducted plane, it was no less apparent that once the incident was over, Israel would have to consider steps directed at those countries who quarter and nourish these groups.

For if air traffic to Israel is to be threatened by terrorist groups, then those countries which harbour these groups should also be aware that they cannot expect their air lanes to

MR. NIXON'S DILEMMA

PRESIDENT Nixon yesterday ordered U.S. planes to resume their bombing missions near Hanoi, in what most observers believe is a sign of fur-ther U.S. escalation of the war r the days ahead. The drama in blood and steel that has been unfolding in Viet-nam in the past week is parallcled by the drama in grit and nerve that has enveloped Hanoi and Washington.

Prior to the North Vietnamese offensive, it was generally assumed that with the continuing withdrawal of U.S. ground forces the North Vietnamese would refrain from confronting the U.S. with a major military challenge, and seek to exploit their advantage in a long process of political negotiation, matched by milary and political subversion of the Saigon regime.

However, Hanoi, in a determined, if desperate, gamble, apparently believes it can either demoish the political fabric of South Vietnam, or at least gain such a chunk of territory as to dictate an advantageous politicel settlement.

The choices facing Mr. Nixon e without doubt the most diffault he has encountered in his entire term of office. If he strikes back in force to stem the Northern tide, he risks serious domestic disruption. If he bows to the facts of Northern strength and Southern weakness, he risks serious erosion of America's international posture, and serious domestic embarrassment

Taese choices are made all the more grave by the timing of the dilemma which faces him, the eve of a summit conference and the imminence of an election campaign. These elements all add up to a crisis of the first magnitude for the U.S. and for its Presi-

But it should also be clear that the crisis is not only an American problem, for whatever embarrisses or weakens the U.S. is a defeat for the friends of the Only Mr. Nixon can make the final decision; supporters of ever this is will contribute to the Errength and resilience of the U.S. both at home and abroad.

U.S. developing missile against the Mig-23

NEW YORK (Reuter). — The U.S. Air Force is hastening the development of an air-to-air missile capable of bringing down the high-altitude Soviet Mig-23 jet which has flown reconnaissance missions over Israel unhampered by Israeli defences, the "New York Times" reported yesterday.

In a despatch from Washington, the newspaper quoted Pentagon officials as saying the new missile should be ready in about a

A modification of an existing weapon, it is being developed by the General Dynamics Corporation and will be designed to operate at altitudes of 21,330 to 24,380m., heights at which the Mig-23

The newspaper said no decision had been taken whether or not to supply the missile to Israel when it is ready. But it quoted American weapons experts as saying the Israelis appeared to be trying to develop their own capability to stop the Mig-23. One Pentagon official said the Israelis seemed confident they could find an answer, though they were not revealing how. He added that perhaps they were modifying existing air-to-air missiles provided by the U.S. or were hoping to use some of the 32 Soviet Sam-2 missiles captured from the Egyptians in the Sinai during the Six Day War.

The Sam-2 is the main Soviet surface-to-air missile, and is extensively employed in Russia, North Vietnam and Egypt.

The newspaper said Mig-23s — known as the Foxbat in the West — have flown over Israeli positions at least three times in the last few months, with Israeli interceptors such as the F-4 Phantom unable to catch them. Existing U.S. missiles deployed on the F-4 cannot operate effectively at very high altiployed on the F-1 cannot operate enectively at very night altitudes, the Pentagon sources were quoted as saying. With the missile being developed, however, the F-4 would fly at about 18,300m, and then fire it at the higher and faster Mig-23, counting on its computer and guidance system to find and destroy the other jet, the sources said.

Rights to disputed apartment

The Supreme Court dismissed an sppeal against a judgment of the Tel Aviv District Court delivered in C.C. 4603/68.

A building company, of which the main shareholder is one Meir Simon, undertook to transfer an apartment in a house they were building in Ramat Gan to the respondent, Rivka Israeli. The respondent paid the full price for the apartment, already in 1965, but did not take immediate possession of it and did not receive transfer of it in her name

June 1968, that the apartment which she had bought had been occupied by the appellants she brought an action for eviction against them and an action for specific performance against both the appellants and the building company. Both actions were joined.

The District Court ordered speci fic performance of the contract of sale with the respondent and issued an eviction order against the appellants.

In the appeal against this decision to the Supreme Court, Mr. N. Amitai appeared for the appellants and Mr. Z. Hartavi for the respondent.

Justice Kahn, who delivered the main opinion of the Supreme Court, noted that the appellants had not denied that the respondent's equitzole rights to the apartment took precedence over their equitable right as they had been acquired first. However, he continued, the appellants had argued that because the respondent's long delay in having the apartment registered in her name, in taking possession of it, and in general, in making it known that the apartment belonged to her, their own position had been preju-diced, and this had created an estoppel which barred the respondent's claim. This argument had been rejected by the District Court, Justice Kahn pointed out, and with justification, in his opinion, for when two parties have opposing equitable

An Oscar on Holocaust Day

By MARK SEGAL

Hollywood decided to award the 1972 Oscar for "The Best Foreign Film of the Year" to "The Garden of Finzi Contini" on the eve of Holocaust Memorial Day. For this is first internationally-acclaimed film to have been made about the destruction of European Jewry. As anyone who attended the world premiere in Jerusalem a year ago wil! remember, the film tells the story of the ancient Jewish community of the Italian city of Ferrara and its destruction. Vittorio de Sica, the director, closely followed the fine book of the same name by Giorgio Bassani, who at first took violent exception to the director's adaptation to the WILT Chamberlain, playing with screen of what amounts to the story 114-100 victory over the New York reproduction of the generally un-Knicks in Los Angeles. familiar Italian-Jewish communal
